MOTION ON PERSISTENCE OF VIOLENCE IN GUJARAT

SHRI ROBERT KHARSHIING (Meghalaya): Mr. Chairman, Sir, I rise to support this Motion. I thank you for giving me this opportunity to make my maiden speech here in Rajya Sabha. I feel it a great privilege to be able to express myself in this august House. Sir, today, we are discussing, continuing from yesterday, the tragic events that took place in Gujarat. I wish to join my esteemed colleagues from both sides of the House, who have condemned the incidents first in Godhra and the subsequent revenge killings, rape and torture, especially, of the minorities, women and children in other parts of Gujarat. I also join other hon. Members who have deplored the terrible loss of property, homes and business establishments. Sir, yesterday, Madam Chairperson expressed her anguish by saying that if we cannot have peace in this House, how can we bring peace to Gujarat and other parts of the country. I humbly share her sentiments. Yesterday, I sat till the House adjourned at 12.00 p.m. There were several occasions when I wanted to leave the House. Such was my frustration at the level of the debate in the House. But there were three rays of light for me. First, when the Leader of the House, Mr. Jaswant Singh, announced the Government's decision to support the Motion. I feel that that one move defused a lot of tension. I thank them for that. Secondly, when Dr. Manmohan Singh apologised to Madam Chairperson for some avoidable remarks made by others. I salute him for his humility. Thirdly, when my good senior friend, Mr. Nilotpal Basu, was in the Chair. Here, on the floor, he is a captain, but there in the Chair, he becomes a General. I wish he sits more often in the Chair. He is better suited there, no pun intended.

Now, I come to the situation which is prevailing in Gujarat. How can we bring peace, forgiveness and reconciliation there? Sir, as a new Member, I can only share my own experience. Sir, I was a radical -- a
